

FIGHT ON COVENANT WILL START TODAY

Knox Resolution Will Likely Be Brought Up to Pitt Senate on Record Against League.

WALSH COMES TO DEFENSE

Montana Senator Upholds Revised Bill in Address—Is Not Superstate He Declares.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—After a short period of comparatively quiet, the debate light over the league of states again became certain to be raised tomorrow or Friday, with a day that may eclipse all previous contests growing out of the congres- sessional resolution of senator Knox, republican of Pennsylvania, proposing to put the senate of each state in record regarding the cause of the covenant of the league, that is, after the fight is to be ended.

Opponents of the resolution hope to gather enough strength to give it a negative vote, while others who are not satisfied with it in its present form are satisfied with it in the hope that it will become an eventually which many supporters expect will be a finish.

Act at Noon.

The future relations committee called a meeting up the resolution to come along with the prospect that it will be brought into the senate when it meets at noon.

It is considered likely that the fight will begin when the resolution is read for passage on Friday. Even opponents of the covenant believe that the senate is not yet prepared to act, and that the senators are preparing those will be none for many days to come.

Senator Knox will make every effort to bring it to a vote, and as he apparently will have the backing of Republican leader Lodge they will not be surprised, however, if they encounter a resistance that may mean protracted debate.

Asserting that opponents of the covenant have trumped up many unconvincing objections to go with popular sensitiveness, senator W. E. Borland, democrat of Montana, defended the league covenant, and urged today against charges that it subverts the American constitution.

Assuming Senator Lodge, republican of Pennsylvania, and others who urged constitutional objections, the Montana senator declared their arguments founded on theories long since disproved. He quoted many precedents to support his position, but the covenant neither sets aside any constitutional prerogative nor assumes any new power in treaty making.

It's Not Superstate.

Charges that the league would be a "superstate" he declared to be a mere declamation, "since the organization in most of the provisions contained in could only 'advise' or recommend." The celebrated article 14, he continued, "certainly would not the United States to make war in certain instances, but added that the same obligation had been assumed by various treaties made by the government in the past."

Scouts Meet at 3 o'clock.

For the purpose of aiding the guards in the policing of the streets during the parade of the engineers every member of the boy scouts is ordered by John Lindy, scout master, to report at the scout headquarters at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Each troop will be assigned certain sections of the city of which they will have complete charge.

Funeral Services for Brown Today.

The funeral services of Alex Brown, 2208 East Hodge street, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Mowbray undertaking parlor. Interment will be in the Rose Hill cemetery. The Rev. Charles P. Sisler, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church, will officiate.
